Remarks Opposition coach (Allan Douglas) lost control as the match progressed and his team fell behind. He constantly barracked the referee, contested decisions, called for fouls and yellow cards to be issued - very poor behaviour, emulated by his players on the touch line. This all culminated in him instructing his players not to shake hands at the end of the match. To make matters worse, after telling his players they were too nice and that they would have to 'play dirtier' in the future, he interrupted my post-match team talk and directly addressed my boys to say, "We look forward to playing you again," in a threatening manner. I downplayed this but, after talking to boys and parents afterwards, the common impression was that of a veiled threat of physical retribution next time.

From my view point, this was a strongly contested game between two evenly matched teams, with some niggly fouls from both sides but no overt misbehaviour from the players. I hate to say it but Mr Douglas's poor behaviour affected not only his team's performance but also wound up my parents and he made no attempt to defuse the situation; rather he seemed to go out of his way to exacerbate it by direct engagement and confrontation.

I have awarded the referee maximum points for the calm, professional way he handled the game, in difficult circumstances. I trust his report will make for interesting reading.
